

An Update from us on COVID-19

NW Print Strategies remains in operation to supply, service, and support your office equipment fleet.

Based on the recent Oregon "work from home order":

- Our technology support services are essential to business and we are granted the allowance to continue operations.
- We are adhering to well publicized social distancing and following precautions as prescribed by government officials and the CDC.
- Some of our administrative and sales staff are temporarily working from home with remote access to email. Other operational staff members who are displaying good health are actively working at our offices or in the field supporting customers.
- Please contact our office today with any questions and/or to discuss any special instructions you may have for our team when at your site.

The NW Print team very much appreciates your patience.

Sincerely,

Your team from Northwest Print
